Praying for the family . I will miss UNCLE BOB::: I always love being around him: Years ago while I was working as a police officer I would get to see him while he was drying corn across from the old feed mill: I always love spending time just talking to him:

I didn't get to know Bobby as well as I would have liked having married his brother, Charles, five years ago. But like Charles, Bobby was easy to love and admire. We spent a great deal of time with Bobby during the last months of his life. He told interesting stories about his childhood and the love he had for his brothers, sisters, children, grandchildren, nieces and nephews. As one of 22 children he learned how to work hard. He farmed and ran his own business, yet found time to teach his kids and grandkids to fish, hunt, and, to quote Bobby, "survive on the land." He loved listening to his great-granddaughter, Journey, play her little guitar and makeup songs and stories. It would be selfish to wish he was with us longer so we could spend more time with him. He's with our Lord and Savior now where he feels no pain, unlike the last few months. We will continue to miss you, Bobby, but we know we will see you again in Heaven. We love you! Charles and Nicki
